Classic Cedar Gazebos

Six Great Ways They Provide Exceptional Value

Superior Wood Quality

Most competitors' gazebos use lower grade green lumber that is more susceptible to twisting, cracking and structural breakdown. All Classic Cedar gazebos are made with superior grade clear western red cedar that has been kiln dried. Kiln dried wood is superior to green lumber because it minimizes twisting and cracking, absorbs stain much better, and virtually eliminates the potential for structure breakdown.

Superior Workmanship

All Classic Cedar gazebos are built in a cabinetry workshop. Construction of Classic Cedar gazebos utilizes glued mortise and tenon joinery, countersunk and cedar plugged screws, precision miter cuts, and are sanded to allow for superior stain absorbency.

No Assembly Required

Most competitors' gazebos are sold as kits and require days to assemble. All Classic Cedar gazebos are pre-assembled to factory tolerances at the plant. The gazebos are then professionally installed on your prepared site in less than four hours.

Copper Roof Cupola

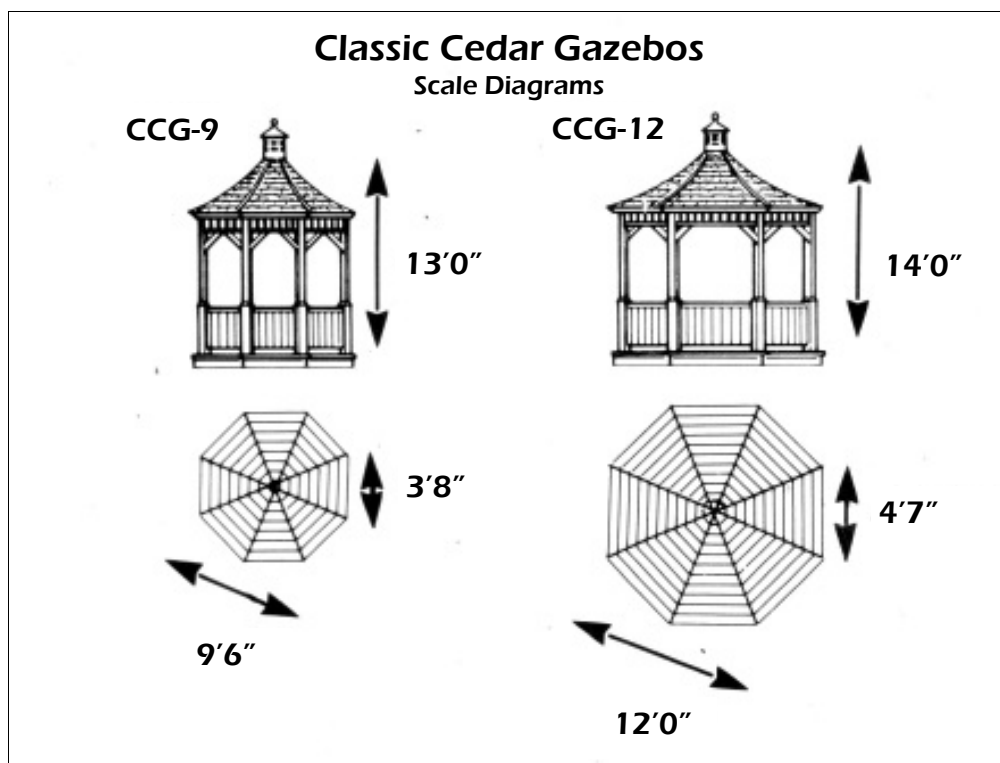

All stock Classic Cedar gazebos showcase a classic copper roofed cupola.

Completely Portable

Good News! Classic Cedar gazebos are designed and assembled in sections that make your gazebo completely portable. Whether just moving it in your yard, or taking it with you to a new home, Classic Cedar makes it easy.

10 Year Guarantee

We are so confident in the structural integrity and workmanship of our Classic Cedar gazebos that we offer a conditional 10 year warranty on any structural defects caused by our workmanship or wood selection.
